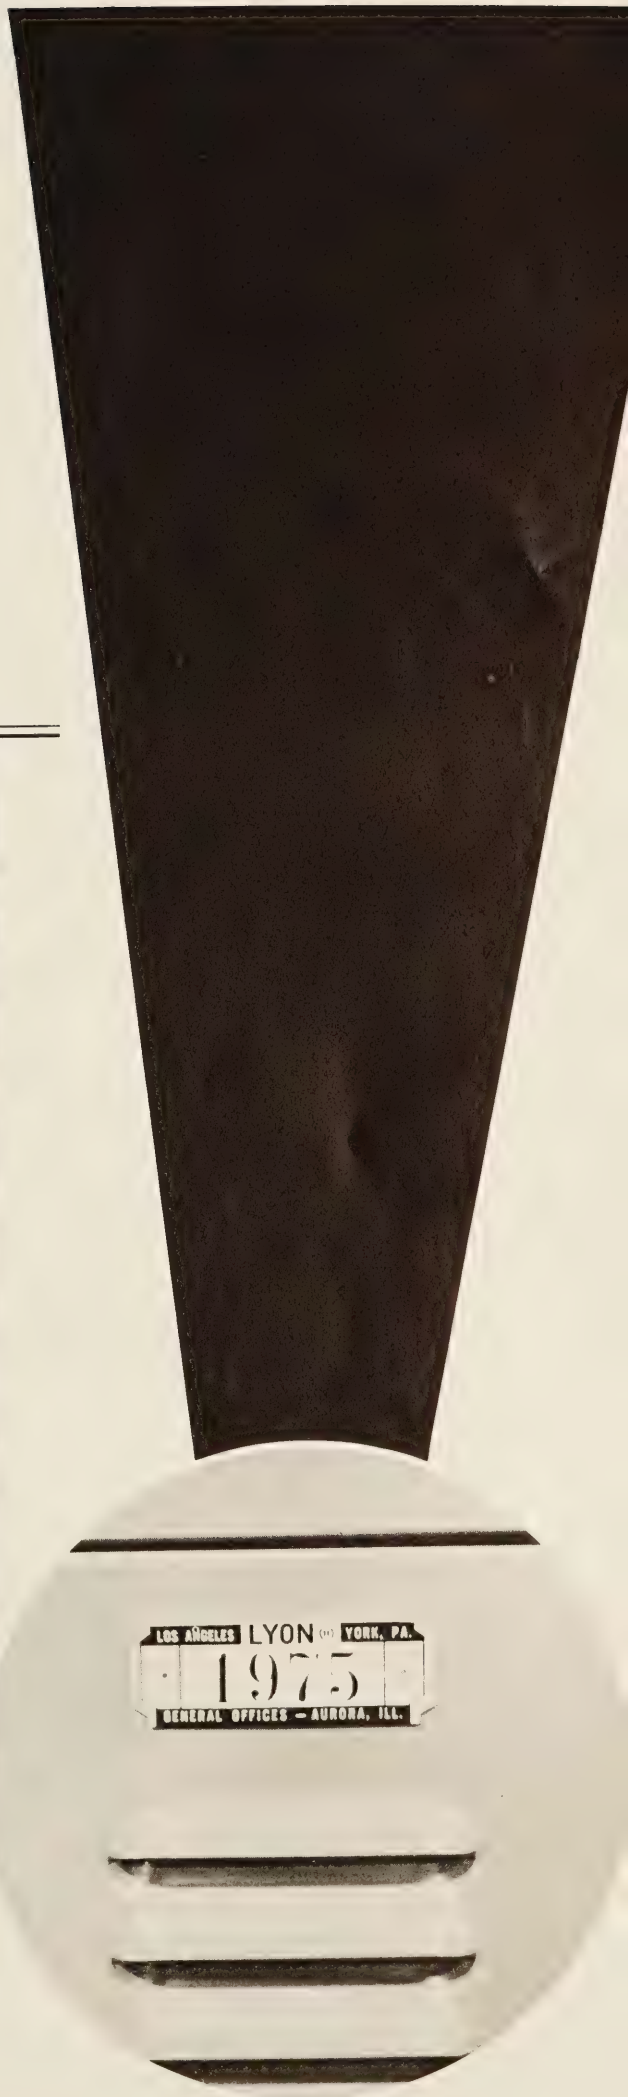
IT



"It ends so soon, our way of life here at Manor." These words were taken from the 1975 senior class song. Sherelle Carey included countless people, ideas, and feelings in the words "our way of life here at Manor."

Unlike most other high schools in the area, Manor played a distinctive part in the community surrounding it. The school was not enclosed by stadiums and fences. It was open to the tennis players, planetarium lovers, and theatre-goers of Portsmouth.

Part of Manor's metropolitan scene was tradition. Each year, events such as student-faculty basketball, the Manor Bowl, talent shows, and award-winning music groups gave Mustangs a feeling of importance. All Mustangs will know that they belong to the first few classes which set traditions and patterns of education and communication for future Mustangs to follow.

Largest Freshman Class Is Introduced to Manor

Curious newcomers see Manor for the first time.

In August of 1974, the largest freshman class ever to enter Manor High School was invited to attend an orientation to familiarize themselves with the layout of the building. For those who attended, it was not only an introduction to a new building but an entirely new environment.

Of course, the first obstacle which had to be overcome was locating the gym. This proved not to be the task many had feared it would be. After finding a seat, the new students were introduced to Dr. T. M. Cherry, Mr. John McGriff, Mr. Robert Urquhart, and various other administrators. All warmly welcomed the students and offered their assistance should any problems arise.

Following the introductions, the students were assigned homerooms and taken on a tour of the building. After walking through seemingly endless halls of classrooms, the Class of 1978 felt confident as it started a new year on the long road which would lead to graduation.

Music Sets Mood of Christmas Season

Tones soften as Mrs. Harriet Heath leads the chorus in a collection of familiar Christmas songs.

Mr. Willis Barnett directs the orchestra in playing "Silent Night."

It was beginning to look a little like Christmas as decorations were hung and trees were trimmed. Amidst all of the hubbub of the season, some students were hard at work creating Christmas baskets and filling them with food. Members of the band, orchestra, and chorus were rehearsing for the Christmas Assembly.

On Tuesday, December 17, Christmas baskets, filled with canned goods for needy families in the city, were displayed for judging. The music department joined together to render its sentiments on the Christmas season through a musical medium.

Homerooms 231, 300, and 322 are found to have the most creative Christmas baskets.

Everyone is assembled to hear the Christmas concert of the music department.

Homecoming Win Over Deep Creek

Ribbons from Homecoming flowers waved in the October breeze. Football players sat in the locker room of Trucker Stadium contemplating the time when they would show their strategic skills to the fans. Candidates for Mr. and Ms. Manor smiled anxiously. Deep Creek fans scattered themselves sparsely through the visitors' bleachers. The Mighty Marching Mustangs positioned themselves and prepared to play their best. School spirit swarmed through the crowd. Half time arrived. Kelvin Greene was announced as Mr. Manor, and Pat King became the reigning Ms. Manor. The band performed an excellent half time show. All too soon, the game was over. The Mustangs had exterminated the Hornets, 22-14, and that was the third annual Manor Bowl.

Student Exhibits Are Shown at Wing Night And Science Fair

The night of November 12, 1974 was the setting of Manor's first Wing Night. Parents were invited to tour the building and see student exhibits representative of the four wings of the school.

In the Arts and Music Wing, parents viewed art students at work and were entertained by the chorus, jazz band, and show band. In the Field House, gym students put together a program of exercise and tumbling routines. The Humanities Wing contained a collection of displays showing the many varied subjects found there. The math section showed several math games and transparencies of the types of math offered at Manor. The science and business departments also had displays of the subjects in their section. The Commons area had its share of exhibits by school clubs. In addition, the NJROTC drill team performed on the square. At the end of the evening, parents relaxed with refreshments served in the cafeteria by Honor Society members. All in all, it was an informative and enjoyable night.

Manor's Third Annual Science Fair was held on March 12,1975. Students' science projects were divided and judged in the categories of Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. After the judging was completed, students with winning projects were awarded certificates in the Field House.

Talent Show Raises Money and Promotes School Spirit

The Modern Dance group portrays the seagulls in the movie "Jonathan Livingston Seagull."

Talented Felicia Mitchell sings "Doctor's Orders."

Interested students practiced long and hard in groups and individually for the big audition of the Talent Show. Four members of the faculty served as judges of the different acts performed by the students. The decisions were made with final consultations with choral director, Mrs. Harriet Heath, and Sherelle Cary, supervisor of the Talent Show.

Paying a dollar to see the performance, the audience saw a variety of acts. There were dances varying from a modern dance routine with the theme song from the movie "Jonathan Livingston Seagull" to a dance routine seen on "Soul Train" line. A never before Karate Exhibition was also one of the many acts. There were the usual but talented acts of musical performances of group band players and singers.

The Talent Show was very successful not only because of the seven hundred dollars raised, but it also promoted school spirit.

Festival Night Highlights Foreign Language Week

Beautiful floats, such as this Spanish one, take much time and effort.

A mock bull fight is presented by a group of Spanish students.

February 12-20 was an exciting week for both foreign language teachers and students. Project, declamation, and bulletin board contests, a trip to Washington, D.C., and the Festival Night were some of the activities held that week. The cafeteria served typical French, Spanish, and Latin meals, and the menus were written in each appropriate language with translations.

The Festival Night, to which all the parents of foreign language students were invited, began with an international buffet. A parade of floats made by the students followed next. The night ended with an assembly program.

French students do a dance named 'Cafe Vanille et Chocolat' at the assembly.

Becky Ash, dressed as a fortune teller, receives a prize from Mr. Joseph Yancey for being one of the winners in the declamation contest.

Field Trips Prove To Be Fun as Well as Educational

Group awaits departure to Tangier Island.

This building represents Tangier's entire educational system.

Despite high fuel costs, Manor had an extremely successful year in the planning and execution of field trips. The various outings used their own locations for their own purposes, but the main attraction for the year seemed to be Washington, D. C.

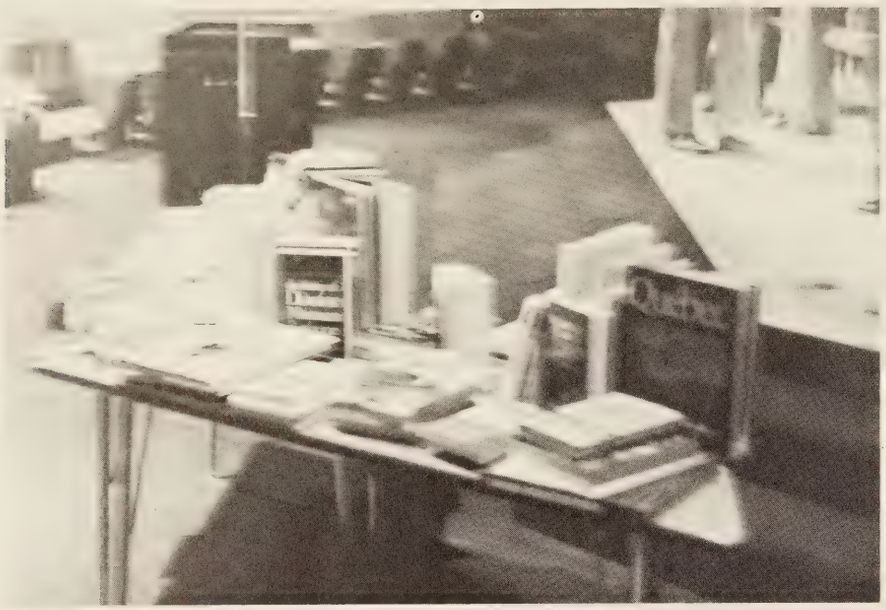
On March 10, all honor roll students for the first semester were invited to participate in a trip to Washington, which was sponsored by Mrs. Cora Mae Fitzgerald. The highlight was the unexpected snowfall which greeted the travelers just outside of Richmond.

Another Washington trip, this time an overnight adventure, took place on April 20-21. Ms. Ann Lyons and her husband, Robert, were combination sponsors and chaperones. Congressman Robert Daniel took time from his busy schedule to welcome the visitors on the steps of the House of Representatives. Entertainment was provided by Marcel Marceau at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Although he is internationally revered for his pantomime ability, his performance was a new experience for most.

On May 2, the Math-Science Club set a precedent by venturing to the seldom heard of Tangier Island. Located between Virginia's Eastern Shore and the coast, Tangier Island is the home of a small, extremely religious town dependent mainly on its crabbing industry. The club members visited the island's small school and learned that the entire Fire Department consisted of two Volkswagens.

All in all, Manor's students were offered several opportunities to leave the traditional school walls and textbooks for the real world where learning was a firsthand experience.

Canadian Government Presents Book Collection



The Canadian book collection is displayed during the assembly program.

On Tuesday, October 15, Mr. Robert Hage, third Secretary of the Canadian Embassy, appeared at an assembly program at Manor to present the school with a book collection. Manor was one of only three Virginia high schools to receive this recognition bestowed upon by Mr. Thomas Elliott, a former geography teacher at Manor and currently the Supervisor of Social Studies for Virginia. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Heath, sang both the Canadian and U.S. national anthems at the assembly program held in the Little Theater. Mr. Hage praised their rendition of "Oh, Canada." Later, Mr. Hage was given a tour of Manor.

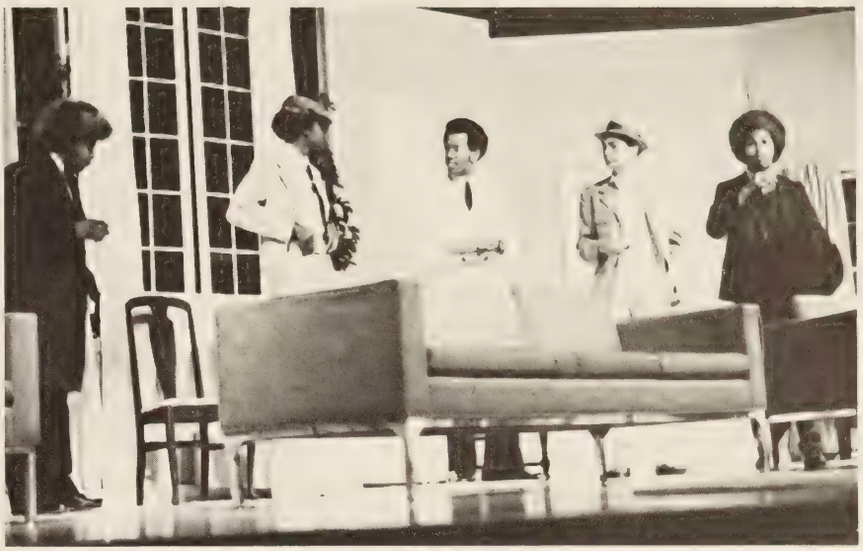
"Ten Little Indians" Receives Standing Ovation

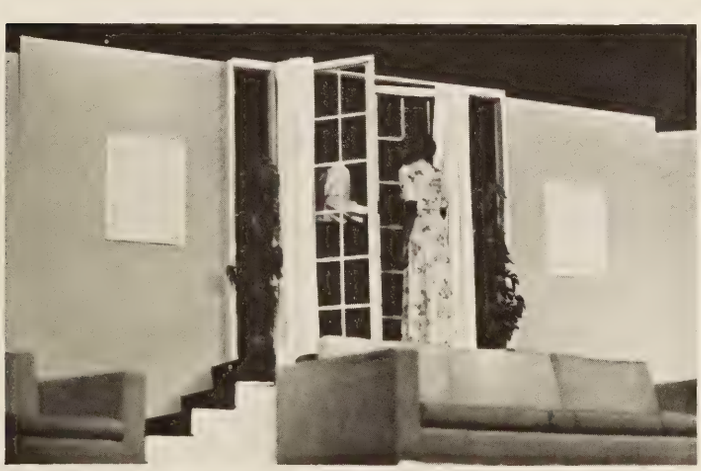
The major production of the Dramatics Club this year was "Ten Little Indians," a murder mystery written by Agatha Christie. Cast members thought the play a success as they looked upon a full house each night. Also, they were rewarded for their long hours of preparation and rehearsal by receiving a standing ovation from the audience after each performance. The main characters of "Ten Little Indians" were: Bruce Melvin as Sir Lawrence Wargrave, Shari Rodgers as Vera Claythorne, Anthony Avery as Captain Phillip Lombard, and Ron Roberson as Mr. Henry Blore.



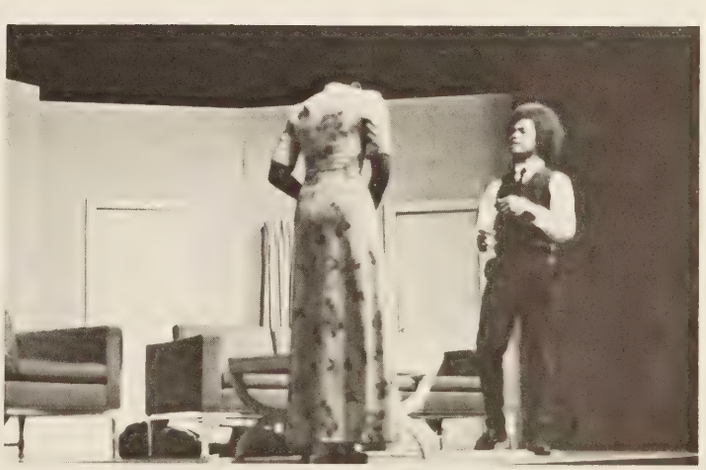
Members of the cast of "Ten Little Indians" discuss the possibility of a murderer hiding in the mansion.

Bruce Melvin, as Sir Lawrence Wargrave, contemplates the murder he is about to commit.

Cast members weep when they discover that the unknown murderer has found yet another victim.



Anthony Avery and Shari Rodgers watch the body of Mr. Blore fall over the cliff to its death—the eighth victim to die.



Bruce Melvin confronts his last victim, Shari Rodgers, in his attempt to commit ten perfect murders.

Manor Experiences First Mini Course With World Hunger

mie Blair and Mario Anderson research solutions hunger problem.

The independent study project on World Hunger was developed in the last semester to give a group of 30 students (juniors and seniors) an in-depth look at the hunger crisis on a global scale. This study, which lasted six weeks, allowed each student to do research in several areas of interest on world hunger.

These research areas provided a variety of learning activities, ranging from individual research and group work to video taping and oral presentations. Students who participated in the project were selected from their U. S. history and Government classes. Each student received a grade evaluation for his work during the study.

This was the first intensive independent study project implemented at Manor, and it will hopefully enable us to pinpoint the strengths and weaknesses of independent study. From this experience, we will be able to effectively plan and implement additional independent study projects for the next school year. It is hoped several more can be developed for the 1975-76 school year.

Important Dignitaries Reopen Manor Power

On April 10, Manor Power opened its second successful year. ›erated much like a business ganization, Manor Power was signed to help train students as ll as serve the school and com-nity with its office and secretarial ›cedures.

The opening ceremony this year was an impressive event because such important speakers as Lieutenant Governor John Dalton, former Congressman Porter Hardy, Vice-Mayor Robert Wentz, as well as Mr. George Powers and Mrs. Gloria Webb from the school board were in attendance. WAVY provided television coverage, and WKLX radio reported on the new community service.

Located in the Business Wing, Manor Power offered a department in accounting, duplication, secretarial services, and publication.

Lt. Gov. John Dalton expresses high hopes for future of Manor Power.

Faculty and administration members were on hand to help celebrate.

First Music in Our Schools Day Is Observed

The string orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Willis Barnett, plays "Postcards from Mexico."

The first national Music in Our Schools Day was celebrated on March 13. An assembly program was held that morning which featured the band, orchestra, and chorus. Mr. John Ackley, Supervisor of Fine Arts, made a speech concerning the importance of music in education. Music in Our Schools Day was a national observance sponsored by the Music Educators National Conference. "This Land Is Your Land" was sung throughout the nation in all the schools.

A patriotic theme was stressed during the assembly. Sandra Byrd gave a bicentennial address towards the end of the program which brought the audience to its feet clapping enthusiastically. Dr. T. M. Cherry ended the program by noting the awards won by our musicians.

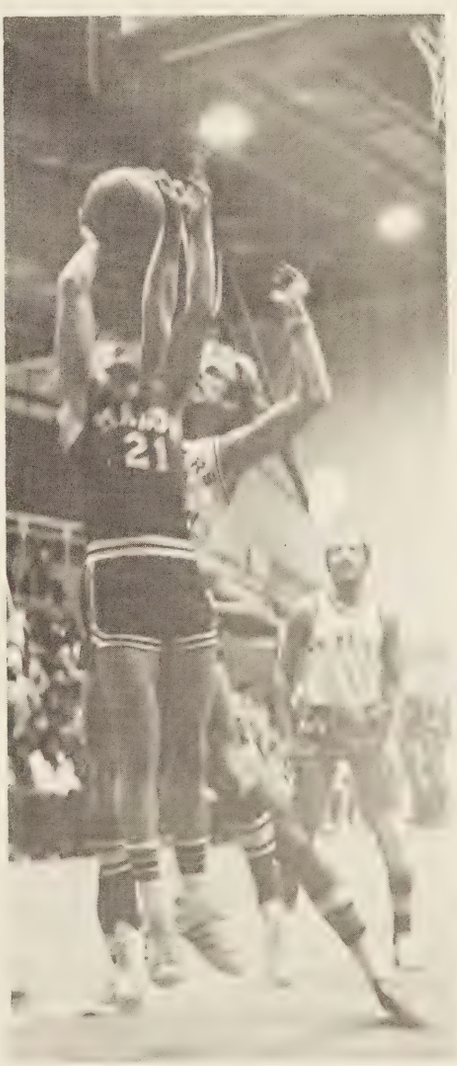
Mr. Bobby Glisson has everyone anxiously on their toes.

Dr. T. M. Cherry maneuvers around Mr. Jimmy Williford from Waters.

Led by the scoring of Coach Cliff Black, Coach Butch Bisese, and Mr. Bobby Glisson, the men's faculty basketball team twice defeated the faculty of Waters Junior High School, narrowly lost to Norcom High School, and defeated the junior and senior boys. Coach Black scored 45 points against Waters, and Mr. Glisson scored 22 points against the junior and senior boys of Manor. The men finished the season with a 3-2 record.

Miss Melody Lubich and Miss Janet Lawrence led the scoring for the women as they were matched against the junior and senior girls. Roseann Debrango was busy stealing the ball while Carolyn Bullock connected on 15 and 20 foot jumpers in the third quarter as the girls defeated the women's faculty basketball team to upset the faculty's overall winning streak.



Control of the ball is the only thing on Coach Bright's mind.

Navy Show Band Entertains Student Body

The 1975 Navy Show Band held its second performance at Manor on April 18, 1975. Only the freshmen did not know exactly what to expect. Everyone else remembered their fabulous concert last year. The band played such popular numbers as "Mandy," "Livin' in the City," "MacArthur Park," several songs by the Stylistics, and a Rock-n-Roll spoof featuring "Rock Around the Clock." Everyone enjoyed the show.

Flying Sponges Seek Their Victims

The teachers, with brave smiles, await the bombing of sponges.

Dip, overhand throw, and splash!! The students at Manor High School had a small chance for revenge against any of their favorite teachers. This occurred at the annual Sponge Throw. Certain willing teachers volunteered to be the targets for the student's revenge. Students paid twenty-five cents for four chances to soak a teacher of their choice with a wet sponge. The students were not the only ones who had all the fun. Sometimes the teachers themselves actually attempted to soak some of their favorite students.

The sponge throw was started in 1974 by the girls' softball and track teams in an attempt to raise money for uniforms and to become more self-supporting. This year, the sponge throw was sponsored by the Manor Sports Club in an attempt to raise money for all girls' athletics.

Mr. Wilbur Cook, dressed formally for the occasion, retrieves the sponge weapon.

Eight Area Schools Vie in First Latin Olympics

The band marches out on the field during the opening parade.

The first Virginia Invitational Latin Olympics was held at Manor on Saturday, May 10. The idea was first conceived by the Latin Club sponsor, Mr. John Crute. The Olympics began with a parade. Eight schools participated in the competition. The events were a girls' relay race, pogo stick race, chariot race, tug-of-war, frisbee throw, egg toss, boys' obstacle course, and a girls' obstacle course. Gary Hicks and Coleen Watson served as co-captains. Professor Stuart Wheeler of the University of Richmond served as the emperor. Manor's Latin Club placed high in several events and won fourth place.

Martin Boone places the torch in its stand.

Danny Hudson participates in the tug-of-war.

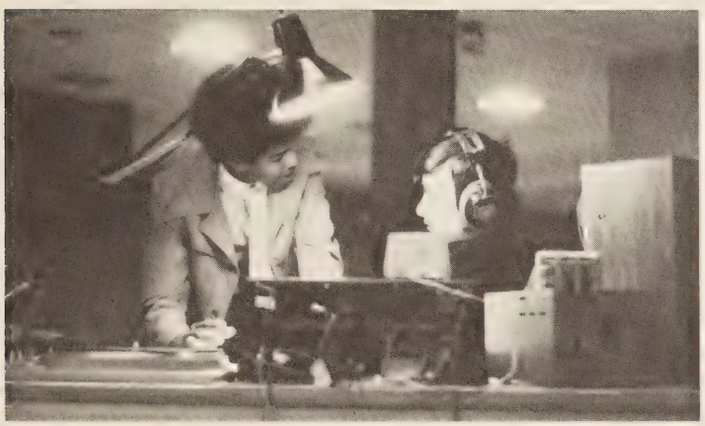
Mustangs Support March of Dimes With "Project Give a Dime"

Mrs. June Black, March of Dimes representative, receives check for funds raised at Manor from debate team member Perrie Coulter.

Dr. T. M. Cherry and Mr. V. P. Mitchell receive plaque of appreciation from Mr. Charles Wright, regional director of the March of Dimes.

While many of Tidewater's youth were walking in the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon, Manor's students, under the direction of Mr. V. P. Mitchell and the debate team, took part in "Project Give a Dime."

The objective of the schoolwide project was to familiarize each student with the work of the March of Dimes organization and then hopefully, collect a dime. Contests were held between homerooms on each grade level to determine which four would receive a certificate for exceptional participation. To encourage student participation, WNHS, Norcom's student directed radio station, was on hand to conduct its own radio-thon on the square. As the music vibrated throughout the entire square area, students came forward with their dimes and made this original effort a worthwhile one.



Students from Norcom's WNHS add to the excitement.

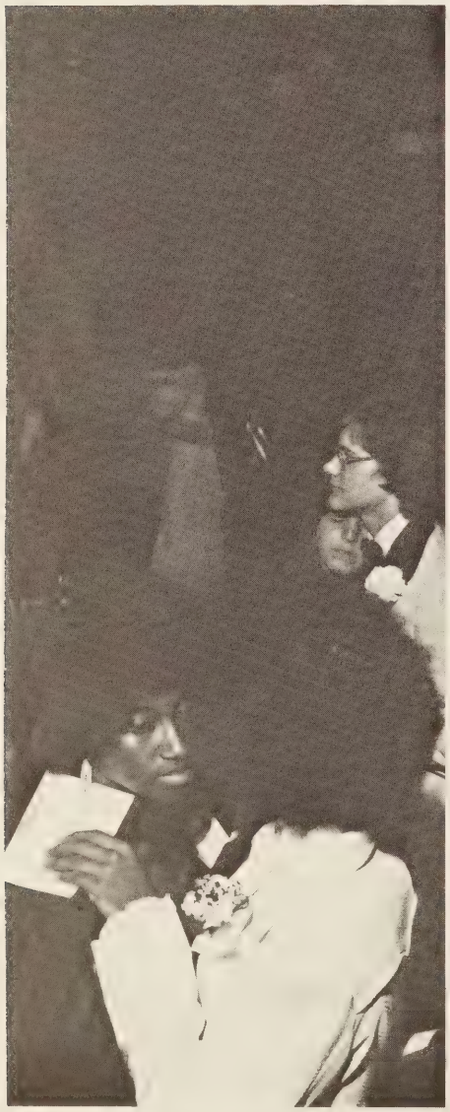
'King Neptune' Theme Turns Land-Loving Mustangs Into Seahorses!

May 10 brought the earliest prom in the history of our school. King Neptune supervised the entire affair with the help of Mrs. Jo Gilbert and Mr. John Thomas, junior class sponsors.

Music was provided by "Week-end Affair" featuring Manor's own Gloria Bagwell. Mermaids on the wall behind the band added a special touch to the scenery and decorations as well as depicting the nautical theme.

As the big night gets off to a great start, Carol Jolly forgets her liberation long enough to let Luke Farrell help her from the car.



As a slow song fills the air, the mood of the prom becomes relaxing for Angela Gladney and her date.

Hostesses Bernadette Harrison and Renee Collins take time out to chat with Brenda Walker and Monroe Dudley.

Each couple at the prom is invited to pose with King Neptune for a picture package by McIntosh Studios. Here, Van Powers, John Heely and 'the king' make quite a trio.

Karen Charlton, Mark Hudson, Roxanne Watson, and Steve Kitchen are greeted at the door by Mr. William McIntosh and his camera.

'Week-end Affair' makes its debut at the prom with a warm welcome from the Mustangs.

Endless Activities Begin As Countdown

Countdown to graduation hit thirteen days, and seniors realized graduation was about to become a reality. Endless activities that accompany a senior year began on May 27. Senior Night featured "Soul Train," Joseph Casper as Jimmy Hendricks, "Earth, Wind, and Fire," and a fashion show. May 28 brought Senior Teacher Day. Characteristic of this day during which teachers switched roles with seniors were groups of 'student teachers' at the Coke machine, a student-filled faculty dining room and wandering 'student administrators.' "Ah!! We haven't practiced, and the Senior Assembly is tomorrow." came the cry on May 29 at the first rehearsal. Rehearsal ended with an uneasy feeling in everyone's mind about the coming assembly.

"They expect us to sing the class song after going over it only twice" came a comment fifteen minutes before the assembly began. The band struck its first note, and Michael Eason led the class in for the first time. Reenactments of Senior Night were performed, the class poem read, and the class song made its debut to the public. As the friendship line was formed, tears filled the eyes of many.

Socialize and Tension Grows

With only five days left in the countdown, seniors gathered to socialize for the last time. John James, class president, was master of ceremonies for the senior reception. Tribute to the parents, faculty, and students was given by Sharon Spellman, Delmo Mondy, and Sabretta Hendricks. The class poem was read by Phyllis Penn, and the program was concluded by a gathering around the piano to sing the class song. An elaborate reception was held in the cafeteria following the program.

After the hubbub of the senior reception, rehearsals, and Baccalaureate had come and gone, tension mounted as countdown approached zero. Seniors were tucked away in the Humanities Wing on the night of graduation to keep them out of the clutches of anxious friends and relatives. There, stress and strain built as they waited for 8:00 p.m. to come. Junior marshals ran errands and made sure everything and everyone was ready for graduation exercises. As time slipped by, the seniors, filled with the jitters and butterflies, lined up around the corridors of the Humanities Wing and headed for the Field House to march in for the last time.

Mixed Emotions March in with Seniors

June 12 came, and countdown to graduation hit zero. Parents, friends, and relatives gathered in the Field House to see the awaited moment. To the familiar tune of "Pomp and Circumstance," the seniors marched in with mixed emotions. Reverend G. Daniel Jones was the guest minister, and Susan Gupton, salutatorian, acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. Shari Rodgers and Luke Farrell delivered stirring speeches on moral and political responsibilities of the senior class. Elaine Watson gave the senior class farewell to Manor. Mr. J. L. McGriff, assistant principal, announced a lengthy list of awards and scholarships from various colleges and organizations won by class members. Finally, the much awaited moment came as Mr. James Glisson announced the names of the graduates, and Dr. T. M. Cherry, principal, awarded the diplomas. Dr. Cherry presented the Class of 1975 to the audience as tassels were turned in unison to signify graduation. Tears fell as the class song was sung, and the Class of 1975 marched out for the last time to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance."

School Facilities Are

Utilized by Community

Students await their planetarium class.

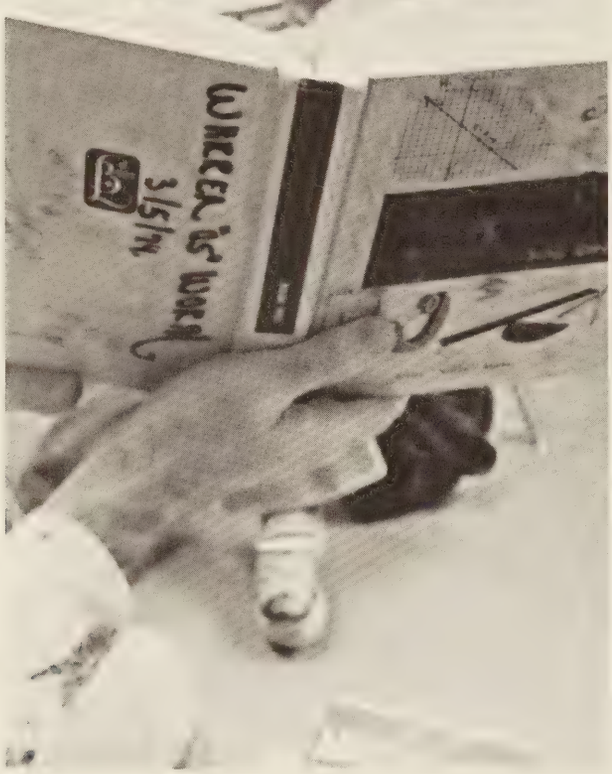
Forty-six acres and the largest school in Portsmouth provided the community with numerous recreational and educational facilities. Among these facilities were the Little Theater of Portsmouth, adult and summer classes, the Manor Branch Public Library, and public planetarium programs. The primary purpose of the planetarium was to provide classes in astronomy and space sciences to schools within the Portsmouth Public School System. Public programs, such as the Christmas Program featuring the Manor Singers, were offered free of charge on Tuesday evenings. Manor also opened its doors to voters on election days when they came out to select their representatives. In an effort to balance education with recreation, the tennis courts provided a place to learn to perfect one's game or a place just to enjoy playing tennis.

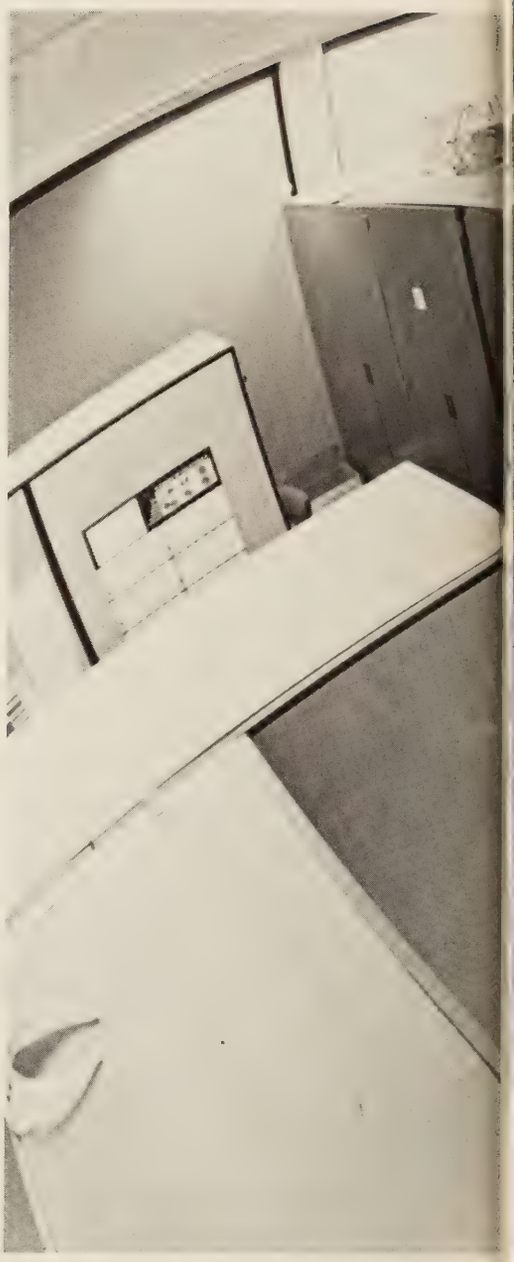
Mr. Jack Fletcher, planetarium director, addresses one of his frequent astronomy classes.

MANOR HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY
PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA

Today's education is more advanced than ever before. Schools have gone from one room with a pot-bellied stove to four wings with central heat and air conditioning. Just as the buildings have changed, so have teachers and techniques.

Mustangs were able to enjoy the newest and most modern facilities in Portsmouth. Our teachers placed a high emphasis on communication. In fact, most Manor teachers encouraged classroom discussions, individual opinions, and debates in lieu of the traditional note-taking and lecturing.





Education Today

Dr. Alford and Portsmouth School Board Broaden Communication Within School System

Dr. M. E. Alford—Superintendent

Prior to his position as superintendent, Dr. Alford was President of Frederick College. Dr. Alford holds a B.S. degree from Middle Tennessee State University, his M.A. from Peabody College, and his Ed.D. from the University of Virginia.

Three new members served to communicate new ideas and aid in the problem solving of the Portsmouth School Board. The three additions were Reverend G. Daniel Jones, Dr. Ethelyn R. Strong, and Mr. Donald C. Kilgore. Employed in the administrative office with Dr. M.E. Alford were three assistant superintendents—Mr. Allen M. Eckstine, Mr. Philip S. Belton, and Mr. W.T.H. Galliford, Jr. School Board officers included Mr. Les Fry—Chairman, Mr. George N. Powers, Jr.-Vice Chairman, Miss Margaret E. Jones—Treasurer, Mrs. Ruby B. Woodall—Clerk of the Board, and Mrs. Faye A. Humphries—Deputy Clerk. The incumbent board members were Mr. Robert E. Brinson, Mr. Ralph Hicks, Mr. Raymond Turner, and Mrs. Thomas Webb.

Assistant superintendents Mr. Eckstine, Mr. Belton, and Mr. Galliford look over the evening's agenda.

The new Portsmouth School Board works well in planning and coping with new problems.

He Communicates Because He Cares

Knowing the school, knowing the teachers, and knowing the Mustangs were definite helps to our principal, Dr. Thomas M. Cherry, as he successfully completed his second year at Manor.

Prior to his introduction as the second principal of the Mustangs, Dr. Cherry received his B.S. degree from East Carolina University, his M.A. from William and Mary, and his Ed. D. from the University of Virginia. He served as principal at Port Norfolk Elementary, Academy Park Elementary, and Harry Hunt Jr. High School.

In a speech by assistant principal Mr. John L. McGriff, Jr., Dr. Cherry was referred to as "articulate, intelligent, and an outstanding speaker." Added to understanding and open-mindedness, these characteristics made for an excellent leader and counselor to all Mustangs.

Dr. T. M. Cherry—Principal

The moment comes for Mary Fritts as Dr. Cherry presents her with her diploma.

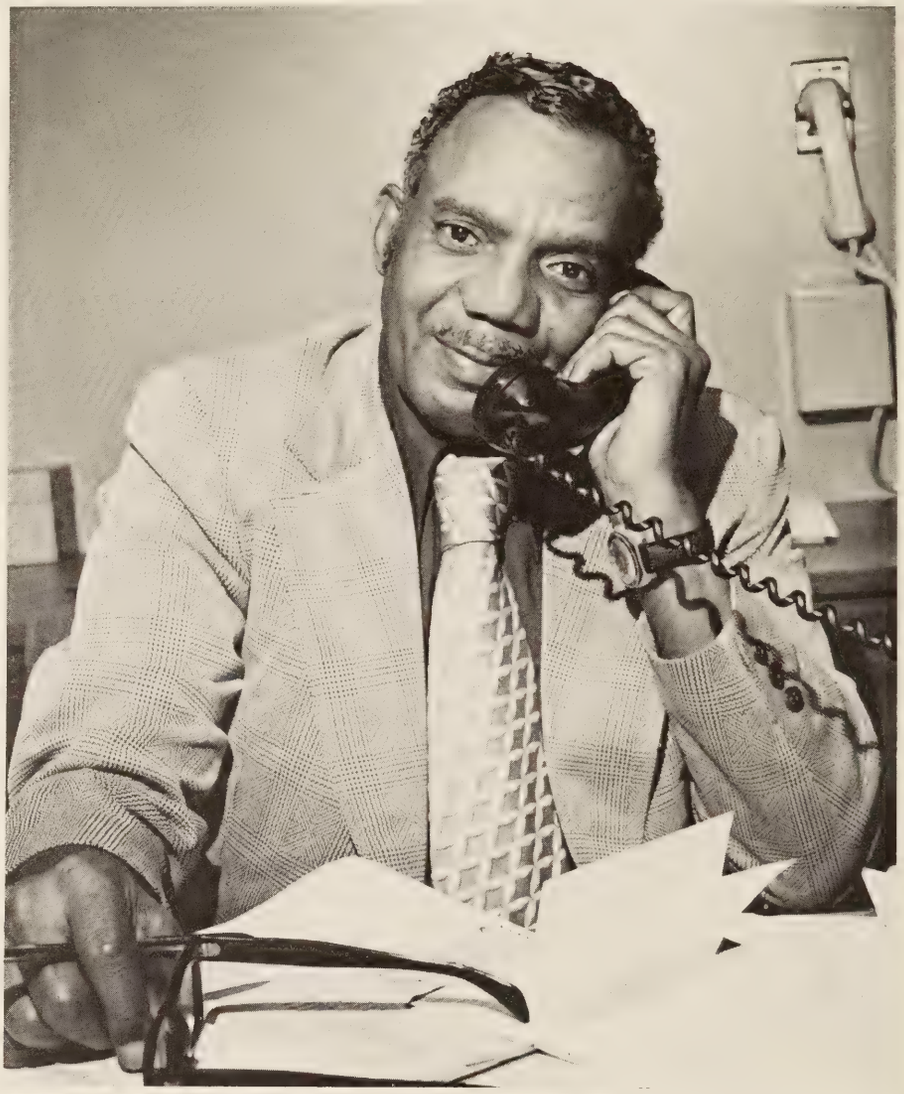
Dr. Cherry can be found at many extra-curricular activities.

Administrators Reflect on Manor's Success

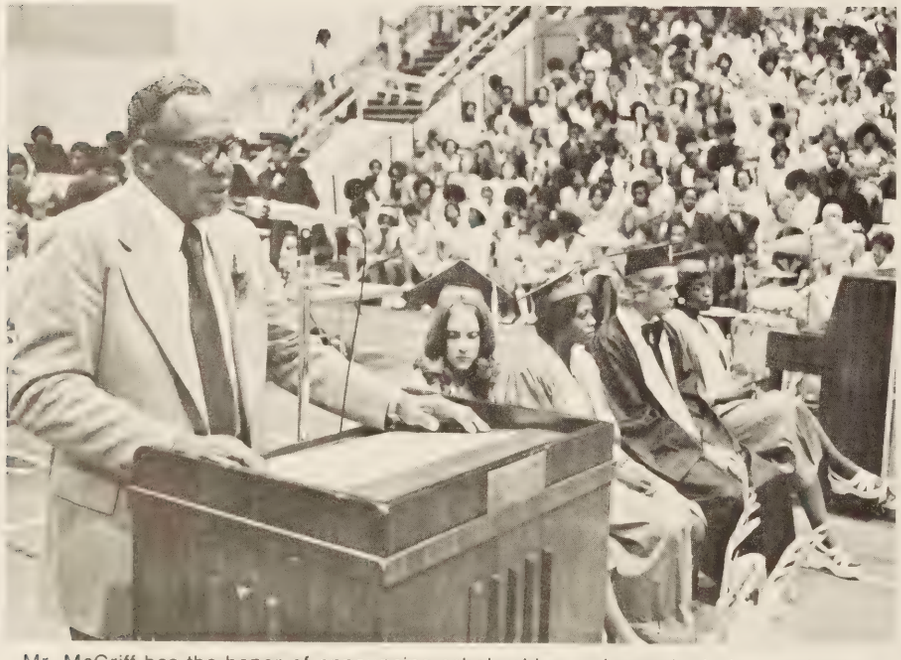
In a message from our assistant principal, Mr. John L. McGriff, Manor's educational program was described as being designed "to help all students in their effort to cope with the demands of an ever-changing American society."

Mr. McGriff felt that pride and school spirit were dominant factors that were necessary to make educational experiences meaningful. While he credited extra-curricular activities with promoting each student with a sense of personal belonging to the school, he was quick to add that the ultimate aim of the educational process was academic success.

When asked their views on Manor as a whole, our administrators all seemed to have the same thoughts. All felt that over the past three years, our school had taken steps in the right direction. All agreed that time and experience would iron out all the kinks in the new system of education. While Mr. Leon Potter admitted to being a bit hesitant about coming to Manor as a disciplinarian after being a coach, his views coincided with those of Mr. James Glisson that their jobs had been rewarding in knowing that the years to come will improve Manor.



Mr. John L. McGriff, Jr.—Assistant Principal



Mr. McGriff has the honor of announcing scholarships and awards during graduation.

A Thought On Things

It may be right to do your own thing;
No two of us are just the same;
If harm your actions do not bring,
Or ill-repute to your name.
To live your life from day to day;
And fail to think about tomorrow;
A foolish deed you have done, your way,
will often bring you sorrow.
So when your thoughts reflect on you;
Life's plans and all your future needs;
Beware of simple things you do,
Tomorrow regrets from yesterday's deeds.

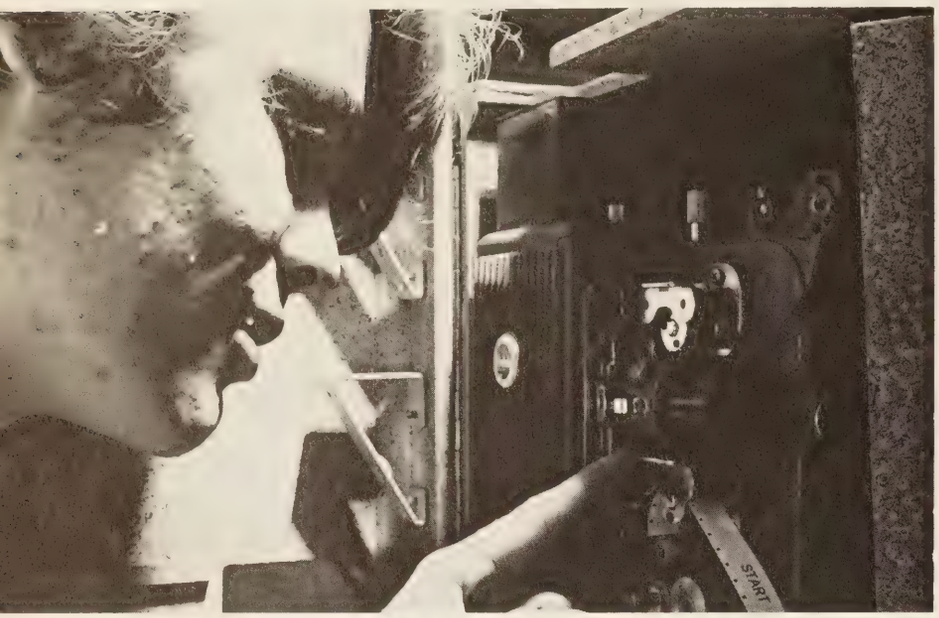
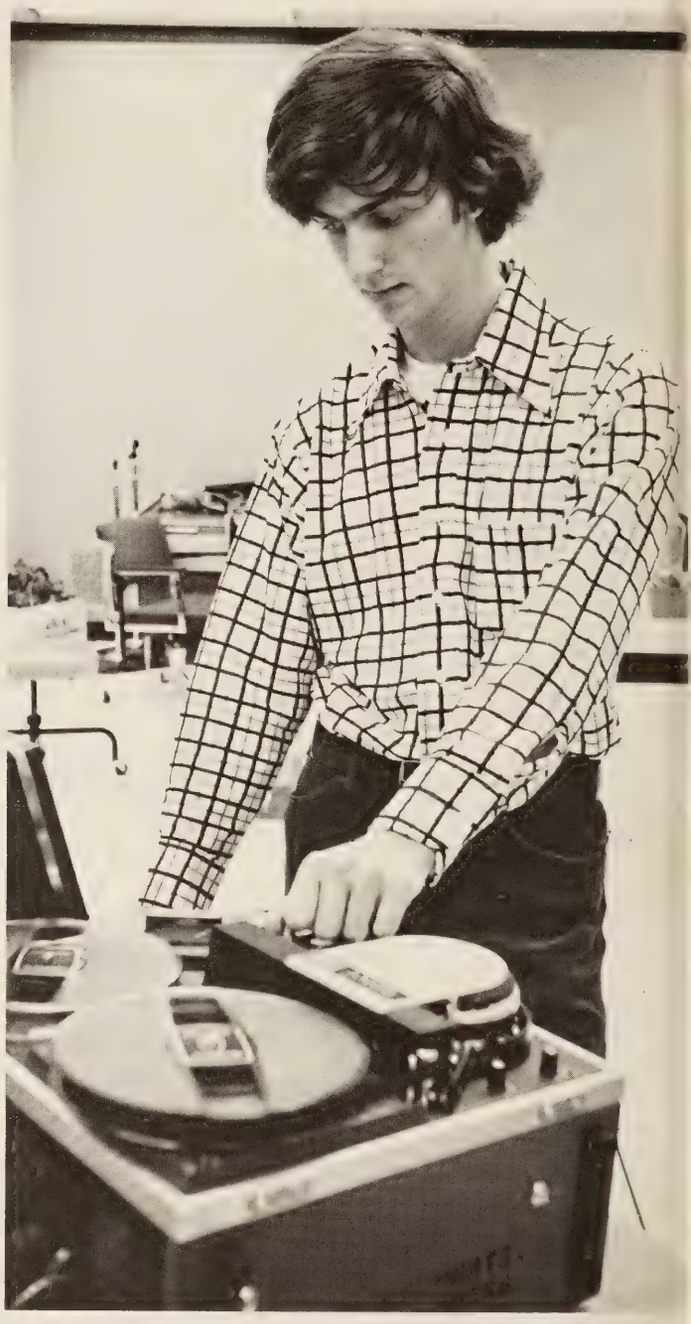
The Manor High School Library was lucky enough to receive under the ESEA Title II Special Purposes Grant, $3,000 for audio-visuals. The program was formed by Mr. James Glisson, Curriculum Coordinator for the Humanities Wing and Ms. Brenda McCoy, head librarian, Mrs. Joan Williford was employed as library clerk, and two I.C.T. students, Pam Hecht and Shirley Hicks worked as library workers in the afternoons.

Paul Moore and Kevin Bedsworth Gain Experience with Audio-Visual Equipment



Kevin Bedsworth threads the movie projector.

Kevin Bedsworth proves to be a great help to students and faculty with his expert knowledge.



Paul Moore listens to a replay of the tape.

Staffing the audio-visual room were two juniors, Paul Moore and Kevin Bedsworth. The two have worked with the equipment for the past three years, previously under supervision. Their jobs consisted of maintaining and repairing all audio-visual equipment and assisting others as trained operators of the Xerox machines. Other aspects of the job included handling film orders and deliveries for Manor and keeping a running inventory of equipment.

Kevin and Paul were a great aid to teachers in the utilization of our video-tape machines. Both students produced some of their own programs and hope to continue in this field in the future.

Mrs. India Wheeler—Data Processing and Scheduling Coordinator

Schedule changes, recommendations, testing, college applications, and conferences all kept our guidance department busy. The head of the guidance department was Miss Cora Mae Fitzgerald. She was assisted by three counselors, Mrs. Evelyn Gup, Mrs. Gloria Richardson, and Mrs. Marianne Lamberton. Mrs. India Wheeler, Data Processing and Scheduling Coordinator, also helped part time. The counselors helped each individual student with his problems and advice given will play an important part in their future plans. Their job was a difficult and involved one deeply appreciated by the students of Manor High School.

Social Studies Classes Give Mustangs a Chance to Voice Opinions

Freshman and sophomore students were offered three courses in social studies. Most freshmen chose to take World Geography. Elective courses offered were World History, a comprehensive study taught by Mrs. Frances Brown, and Negro in American Life, taught by Mr. Charles Smith. Both courses offered a deep insight into man of the past and man of the present.

All juniors were required to take U.S. History. Two elective courses were offered to juniors and seniors, Sociology and International Relations. Mustangs enjoyed the small classes and the teaching abilities of Mr. Gerald Head.

Congressional Candidates Speak to Government Classes in 'Warm' Debate

W.H.C. and L.S.G. What do these initials mean to you? To government students, these letters played a big part in their school life. Government teachers offered mini-courses on the World Hunger Crisis and a Legislative Study Group. Students involved in these special interest groups were given the opportunity to conduct indepth studies through research and field trips. Other mini-courses which developed in the social studies department were an inquiry project on Colonial Taverns and a booklet on a European trip.

Candidates for the November, 1974 election of Congress, Congressman Robert W. Daniel, Reverend Curtis Harris, and Delegate Lester Schlitz, engage in the first debate of the campaign as guests of the government classes.

Mr. John Thomas and Mr. Leroy Williams discuss who will sit with the IS class in room 108.

Where do you look to find ANY freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior? In the English department. After the freshman year of English, Mustangs were exposed to forms of American literature, Western literature, and the great writers of all times. While senior English teachers broke tradition by requiring term papers during the third six weeks, junior English teachers had a new idea. Juniors were asked to choose as the topic of their term paper something in the area of U.S. History, combining the two junior subjects.

The world of entertainment — what an exciting thought! That is how students felt who took drama. All aspects of drama were covered in the course, just as a complete knowledge of a publication was established in the journalism classes. Humanities, public speaking, and creative writing were the three other specialty English courses offered. All were considered quite popular among the Mustangs. All forms of communication were deemed as targets for the English department.

International Communication Is

All Mustangs were exposed to the activities of the classroom and the countries represented by each language through Foreign Language Week. Latin, French, and Spanish students prepared exhibits set up in the Humanities Wing, spoke of their language on the morning announcements, and participated in Foreign Language Night.

Objectives of the foreign language department sighted the development of listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills as a main target. Students were expected to acquire and develop a working vocabulary and simple conversational skills customary to their chosen language. In addition to learning the language, Latin, French, and Spanish students were offered the opportunity to gain knowledge correlating with social studies, science, and fine arts as aspects of their respective countries.

On March 12, 1975, the Math-Science Wing buzzed with excited and nervous Mustangs as exhibits and projects were judged for the 1975 Math-Science Fair. Most of the projects were of a scientific origin, although a few were contributed by the geometry students of Mrs. Marcella McNeil.

The mathematics department offered a varied curriculum in an effort to meet the needs and interests of all Mustangs. Courses ranged from General Math 9 to advanced levels of Trigonometry and Mathematical Analysis.

Mustangs Are Really

Dynamite! Scienterrific! Mustangs are really hung up on science!

A new course entitled Science Survey Biology was offered for the first time at Manor. SSB students investigated areas such as Marine Biology, forestry, and conservation. Biology, Chemistry, Physical Science, and Physics gave students an opportunity to expand their scientific knowledge around principles of ecology, interaction of matter and energy, and the basic principles of chemistry and physics.

Science students also participated in field activities, providing an opportunity to apply scientific principles outside the classroom. Dynamite!

Well, maybe not ALL C.O.E. students spend that hour perfecting machines!

NJROTC Enrollment Doubles for '75

Our NJROTC unit doubled its enrollment to slightly over 100 cadets, thirty of whom were female. The unit presented a sharp appearance in its natty uniforms.

Cadets visited ships in port and at sea, drilled in parades, and participated in civic functions in Portsmouth and Norfolk. Local competitive drills brought the unit cash prizes.

Captain H. C. Page and Chief Petty Officer Lawrence Mondy were rightfully proud of the example of good citizenship and deportment set by the NJROTC cadets.

These mini-courses had little trouble holding the interest of their students. One class held a mock wedding reception as a culminating activity. Another class visited a local kindergarten in an effort to relate actual situations to classroom activities on children. The food and clothing courses really gave students a chance to do their own things, from gourmet foods to super garments.

Industrial Arts Relies on Student Ingenuity

Communications? Construction? Drafting? Transportation? Manufacturing? Did any of these subjects interest you? If so, the Industrial Arts department was the place for you.

In communications, the student was allowed to experiment with safe electrical equipment as well as explore the world of photography and printing. The construction student gained knowledge in planning, designing, and building. Draftsman, surveyor, architect, and planner work stemmed from the drafting classes. Transportation and manufacturing zeroed in on the actual mechanical process of a machine—large or small.

Mold a Future in Careers

Mrs. Diane Brown's D.E. class listens to a job interview on tape to be ready later to discuss its good and and bad points.

Distributive Education was a program that taught students skills that were necessary for securing and holding a job in the areas of marketing, merchandising, and management. Students received two credits for this course—one for classroom instruction involved with the study of retailing and marketing and one credit for on-the-job training. Students had the opportunity to receive practical work experience under supervised conditions.

Community businesses furnished on-the-job training in cooperation with the Industrial Cooperative Training program. Directly related to the job training was a classroom study instructing manipulative skills of each trade or profession in which students were working.

Fine Arts Department Instructs Mustangs

To promote communication through the various skills and techniques and be aware of the art needs of the school and the community were the motto and main goal of the art department. With a spacious and well-equipped art lab, students were encouraged to grow in the perception, knowledge, comprehension, and evaluation of visual art. The program offered drawing, painting, sculpture, ceramics, printmaking, and history and appreciation of art.

The chorus, band, and orchestra had a year-round program of activities and concerts for the benefit of the school and community. The chorus presented its annual Christmas and spring concerts. The band and orchestra participated in the District Festival where they received high ratings exhibiting proficiency and technical skills as performers.

Stretching exercises are a must for Paula Douglas, Evelyn Mondy, Adrienne Barks, and Antoinette Barks.

Physically fit Mustangs are of great importance to the faculty of our physical education department, but the education did not stop with exercises. Good drivers and student first aid cards were also born of our physical education department. While gym was meant to be fun, high standards of achievement were set. Students who completed their requirements found themselves more self-aware and self-confident.

The girls' department was led by Mrs. Lottie Short, a graduate of Norfolk State, who taught freshman classes. Mrs. Jan McMillion divided her time with driver education and directing intramural sports. Miss Janet Lawrence also taught freshmen. ODU graduate Miss Melody Lubich taught sophomore girls in addition to coaching the girls in afternoon sports.

Each and every Mustang was a newsmaker. Each distinctive personality, each different set of habits, each separate way of dressing, and every diverse style of living set each Mustang apart from the rest. A student needed not be the star of the football team nor the head cheerleader to be a newsmaker.

Some of our Mustangs actually did make the news. Mike Eason, the 1975 valedictorian, received recognition by earning the Bausch-Lomb medal for having the highest average in high school science. Michael Drew became known throughout the community through a violin recital given June 22, 1975. Selected participants from Manor's Science Fair entered their science projects in competition at the 24th Annual Tidewater Science Congress. Names in the news from Manor included Lisa Harlowe, John Lamb, Susan Hinton, Michael Turner, Nancy Myrick, and Mary Fritts.

IN MEMORIAM

Manor High School suffered the tragic loss of two of its students, Patrick Dankert and Milton Elliott. Pat died as the result of a swimming pool accident, and Milton passed away in the spring from a sudden illness. We will miss them greatly.

Senior Class Officers and Senior Planning Committee Work for Great Year

The senior class sponsored two weekend dances as money-raising projects. Featured disc jockeys were Sir Robert, The Bruce Melvin Movement, and Mike Roberts of WKLX radio. The class also planned several student-faculty basketball games and a talent show.

For the 299 graduating seniors, the last two weeks of school were more than hectic. In between cramming for those last exams in order to be a graduate, everyone was involved in senior night, the senior assembly, countless rehearsals, Baccalaureate, and finally, graduation. Business teacher, Mrs. Jo Gilbert, rendered the services of her husband, Reverend J Sherrick Gilbert for Baccalaureate.

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1975

Third Summer Graduation Held at Manor

It was a hot night in August. Two-hundred and sixty-two summer school seniors received diplomas presented by Dr. T. M. Cherry, principal of Manor, Dr. Morlino, principal of Wilson, and Mr. John L. McGriff, Jr., assistant principal of Manor.

On August 7, 1974, at 7:30 p.m., friends and family of the graduates from sixteen Virginia and North Carolina high schools climbed into the bleachers of the field house. They were presented a program over which Carl Beigle presided, accompanied by the Manor High School Concert Band. Dr. William Taylor of Park View Methodist Church was a guest speaker. Vince Wilcox and Ramona Reynolds also spoke to the graduates.

The class had ten honor graduates.

for Coming Junior-Senior Prom

The 1974-75 school year proved busy for juniors. Besides homework, testing,and club activities, there were many fund raising projects. Car wash and bake sale proceeds went for the construction of the class homecoming float which won second prize. Other projects, including a successful Hobo Dance on November 1, were aimed at raising money for the prom. The class also held the first Powder-Puff football game on November 22. The junior girls beat the senior girls 12-0.

All in all, it was an unforgettable year.

Women's Lib Infiltrates

Four hundred and thirty-two enthusiastic sophomores participated in sports and various club activities and excelled academically. Brian Stuck and Perrie Coulter made the Ledger-Star Scholastic Team and were chosen to participate in the Governor's School for the Gifted. Wanda Moody was the nominee for the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar. Amidst all of their activities, sophomores felt lost over the death of Milton Elliot. The year ended with planning of next year's schedules and the anticipation of going "mod."

Marilyn Linthicum Leads Class of '78

Freshmen started their high school years with an orientation in August to introduce them to a slightly different way of school life. They found that they, along with the sophomores, would be on a conventional schedule while the juniors and seniors would be on modular scheduling. Despite this and the disadvantages of being a "freshman," they made a definite impact on the school.

There were close to 600 in the Class of '78. Of these, about seventy made honor roll each semester and there was a small group of the newly formed Principal's List for students with all A's. They decided to be the first class of freshmen in three years to elect class officers. Besides taking exams for the first time, freshmen could be found participating in J.V. cheerleading, J.V. football, wrestling, on the yearbook staff, in the Math-Science Club, and in NJROTC.

Class Officers: Della Adams—Vice President, Miss Melody Lubich—Advisor, Rhonda Batts—Secretary, Marilyn Linthicum—President, Karen Johnson—Treasurer, and Miss Janet Lawrence—Advisor.

Jesse Boone, Bernand Myrick, Rodney Jones, Derrek Lynch, and Ronnie Corbett make plans for an eventful night.

"Mustang Entertainment '75" consisted of countless varied activities and diverse interests ranging from a wrestling match to a strategic game of chess. Since Manor offered several types of entertainment, each student was able to enjoy his own preferences.

For the sports-minded Mustangs, autumn started things off with a bang. Friday night football games became routine and afterwards, everyone swarmed to his favorite hangout. Village Inn, Shakey's, and Pizza Hut shared in our thrills of victory and our agonies of defeat. Chilly winter nights were filled with exciting basketball games and wrestling matches. Warm spring weather brought out the baseball bats, Adidas shoes, and tennis rackets of the mighty Mustangs.

Organizations also provided ambitious students with entertainment. Highlights included the Debate Team's "Project Give a Dime," the Dramatic Club's production of "Ten Little Indians," and the unforgettable performances of the Chorus, Orchestra, and Band. Organizations proved to students that learning and communication can be entertainment too.

in Manor Bowl

The Mustangs began their 1974 record when Mark Hudson recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for a touchdown. The two extra points gave them an 8-7 victory over Churchland. The team went on to win its next two games against Woodrow Wilson and Western Branch, before losing to Oscar Smith, 12-10. This did not hamper the Mustangs, for the next week they won their most impressive game, defeating Cradock 56-8. This victory was particulary rewarding because Cradock's head coach, Earl Sweet, was Manor's former offensive line coach.

Next, Manor had to play Indian River at their Homecoming. The Mustangs proved that they were not to be stopped and went on to win 16-7. The Mustangs then faced Great Bridge. This seemed to be the turning point of the season. At the end of the first half, the Mustangs trailed Great Bridge 14-0. However, they did not give up and at the end of the third quarter, they had rallied to tie the score at 14-14. Early in the fourth quarter, they took the lead 20-14 but in the final two minutes, Great Bridge scored and won the game 21-20.

Coming off this heartbreaking defeat was the Manor Bowl which the Mustangs had never lost. After being idle a week, they continued this tradition by defeating Deep Creek 22-14 in the 1974 Manor Bowl. This victory was overshadowed by losses in their last two games. They lost to the Southeastern District Champion, Norcom, 32-14, and to an overpowering Eastern District Champion, Kellam, 44-0.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 6-4 record, but their coaches felt that without the loss of key personnel due to injuries, the team might have finished with an 8-2 record. As a whole, the Mustangs' season was very successful and with a more experienced team, next year's season should be even better.

of Eighth Graders for First Time

The 1974 edition of the J.V. Mustang football team saw changes in both coaches and players. Coach Wayne Bright was promoted to head coach prior to the beginning of the season. In this new role, he assumed offensive and defensive backfield duties plus overall team coordination. Mr. Jimmie Williford moved into the Manor coaching ranks as an assistant in charge of offensive and defensive line play and as defensive coordinator. For the first time, the Mustangs utilized the services of eighth graders in interscholastic sporting events.

Large numbers of football candidates marked the early practices in August. These were trimmed to a squad of thirty-eight prior to the first game. Each player was given playing time in two scrimmages before final set positions were decided.

Manor went into its first regular season game after flexing its muscles against both Kellam and Cradock in scrimmage. The result of early conditioning and hours of drilling was a 28-14 drubbing of Deep Creek. All players enjoyed playing time in the game.

Next in line was a game with Norcom. Played at Lawrence Stadium in freezing temperatures and high winds, the Mustangs scored in the second half and held on to a chilly 8-0 win.

After Norcom, the Mustangs travelled to Western Branch for a game that had turned into something of an inter-city rivalry. What appeared as a defensive containment ended with a twenty-one yard touchdown by Western Branch. Manor rallied to stop P.A.T. but lost the game 0-6.

Maury's Commodores visited Manor and on the first play picked up a Manor fumble and scored. Manor battled back for a 12-6 half time lead, but costly errors made the final score 12-22.

Following the Maury loss, certain adjustments were made, and Manor went on to shut out Churchland 24-0 and defeated Wilson 12-6. In the Wilson game, the big play was a 73 yard pass from Mike Conrad to Curtis Cross with only seconds on the clock.

With this final win, Manor finished its season with a 4-2 record. The real strength of this team will be seen when the 1974 J.V. becomes the 1975 varsity.

District Title to Manor

The Mustangs opened their drive to the title against Churchland High School on September 18. This was their closest meet as they won by a score of 21-34. Manor placed five out of the first seven runners with Thomas Greenwood and Steve Richardson finishing 1 and 2 respectively.

The Mustangs then ventured to Norcom where they won most impressively, 15-41. Manor's trackmen finished unbelievably in the first five places.

The Mustangs went on to win their next three meets against Deep Creek, Oscar Smith, and Woodrow Wilson.

In their final dual meet, the Mustangs had to run against Great Bridge, the only other undefeated team in the district. The year before, the team faced the same situation and came out victorious by a mere 1 point. This time, it was to be a different story for the Mustangs routed the Wildcats 20-35, placing the first four finishers.

On October 25, at 4:00 p.m., on the Frederick Campus of the Tidewater Community College, the Mustangs participated in the District Title meet as the team to beat. The tension grew as there were two false starts at the beginning. The Mustangs were out to win this title since the previous two seasons they had attempted, only to fall short and finish second. No one was to stop them this time as the Mustangs were the only team to place three men in the top ten. Mark Hudgins finished third, Steve Richardson placed fourth, and Lance Lalonde finished fifth. The Mustangs' total point accumulation was 59. This was Manor's first championship team in the school's history.

The team consisted of four juniors, three sophomores, and three freshmen. So with no graduating seniors, the Mustangs are looking forward to giving Manor its first regional and hopefully state title next year.

in District Play-offs

Tryouts started in early November for thirty students hoping to be one of fifteen who would be chosen by the coach to represent Manor High School in the 1974-1975 basketball season. Following the tryouts, the members of the team worked out every afternoon preparing for their opening game on December 3, 1974 against Wilson. In their workouts, they ran over 25 miles through warm ups, laps, plays, and sprints.

All this hard work did not pay off in the first month of the season when the Mustangs lost five out of six games, winning the last game over Oscar Smith 45-36. This victory ended the 1974 year with high promises for the remainder of the season.

In the first game of 1975, the Mustangs defeated Churchland 57-43. This two game winning streak did not last long for the Mustangs lost their next game to Great Bridge 55-75. The Mustangs split their next two games and at the halfway mark of the season had a very poor 3-7 record. In the seven losses acquired in the first ten games, the young Mustangs gained experience and incentive to become the first Manor basketball team to reach a .500 season. In this attempt, the team went on to win five of their last eight games, winning their last three games against Churchland, 67-52, Great Bridge, 77-68, and Deep Creek, 66-61. These victories were accomplished with outstanding showings from Jim Satterfield, Reginald Smallwood, and Kenny Garrett.

The spirited Mustangs' attempt to end 9-9 fell one game short as they finished with an 8-10 record. This last surge of victories edged the Mustangs into a three way tie for 5th place in the Southeastern District final standings. The coaches of the tied teams had a drawing for 5th, 6th, and 7th places in the district standings, and Coach Cliff Black drew 7th place. This put the Mustangs up against the Woodrow Wilson Presidents in the opening round of the district play-offs. The Mustangs entered the tournament with high hopes of winning. This drive stayed with them during the Wilson game as they played their best game of the season, only to fall short 68-64.

Varsity Record, 8-10

When practice started for J.V. basketball, Coach Butch Bisese was faced with the task of forming a competitive team to represent Manor on the court. The prospects for the team consisted of only five returning players, making the team young and inexperienced.

In the first eight games, the season went as Coach Bisese suspected, just under .500. The Mustangs had a 3-5 record. Towards the end of the first semester, the Baby Mustangs were to have their longest winning streak of the season. They defeated Deep Creek, Wilson, Cradock, and Norcom. This gave them a 7-5 record at the end of the semester. Coach Bisese received consistent play from Robert Chambers, Kevin Clay, and John Savage.

Then, disaster broke out for Coach Bisese and the Baby Mustangs because due to grades, they lost four key players. This meant that inexperience would hamper the Mustangs for the rest of the season. This proved to be a large factor in the Mustangs' record, because they went on to lose five out of their last six games. Not reorganizing until their final game, they defeated Deep Creek 40-36.

With the experience gained through participation of numerous players in the closing weeks of play, Coach Bisese is looking forward to next season with high hopes and a lot of optimism.

Manor's mighty matmen wrestled their way to a very exciting 5-7 season. Close matches seemed the order of the day as three meets were won or lost by a mere three points or less.

Tournament wrestling found the Mustangs wrestling for the first time ever in the Menchville Christmas Invitational Tournament and coming away with third place in the meet and managing two champions, Luke Farrell at 167 and David Fields at 185.

In the district tournament, a strong Manor team, riddled by semester failures, could count on only eight of the twelve team members for points. Six of the eight placed, and two were championships. Garland Bennett, at 105, and Steve Goode, at 155, took first. Luke Farrell lost in the championship match by 5-2, taking a second place.

In the regional tournament, five out of six were eliminated, leaving only Steve Goode who won first place in the region and fourth place in the state meet. Steve's final record was 26-3 with two of his three losses in the state tournament. Graduating from the squad were Garland Bennett, Danny Mundon, David Fields, Clinton Jacobs, Luke Farrell and James Anderson.

Season and a District All-Star

The varsity baseball team this year bettered Coach Morrison's .500 season prediction by going 7-6. After an explosive start by winning its first three games, Manor fell into a hitting slump which led to five straight losses. Coach Morrison then skillfully got the team straight in time to win four of its last five games. Tri-captains Jim Satterfield, Luke Farrell, and Greg Faircloth were the leaders. The most valuable player was Jerry Waters who hit two homers and three triples during the season. Coach Morrison expects big things for next year since there were only three seniors on the team. Jim Satterfield, a member of the district all-star team, will return for his fourth varsity season.

Under the leadership of Coach Jimmie Williford, the JV baseball team wound up the season with a 3-6 record. After beating Great Bridge, inexperience in the predominately freshman squad caused the team trouble. Their next win did not come until four games later when they squeezed by Norcom by a score of 2-1. Coach Williford hopes to have most of his team returning next year to better this scoring record.

Tri-captains Garry Harris, Greg Watts, and Buddy Sharp led the Manor High School track team, under their new coach Mr. Frank Ziegenfuss, to a 3-4 record. The young Mustangs gained experience in their trying year. The most rewarding moment of the season was the victory over very powerful Western Branch High School 66-65, the victory being decided in the last event with Manor coming out on top.

Junior Garry Harris was honored by his coaches as being elected Most Valuable Player at the Spring Sports Banquet. Other members exhibiting outstanding performances were senior Chris Peterson and freshman Anthony Whitaker.

With the loss of only three seniors, the coaches are looking forward to the upcoming season. The coaches feel that the Mustangs will be a power to be reckoned with in the Southeastern District.

with 9-1 Record

The 1975 tennis team brought Manor its second district title of the 1974-75 school year. It was an exceptional year for the team. After finishing the season with a 10-0 record, Coach Black was informed that one of his players, Gary Melton, was ineligible to participate interscholastically by ruling this was his fifth year in high school. This meant that the Mustangs had to forfeit his singles and doubles matches, which caused them to lose to Indian River High School, 4-5. This misfortune gave the Mustang tennis team a 9-1 seasonal record, but it did not forfeit its much earned district championship.

The team captain, Mark Hudson, playing the number one spot, provided tremendous leadership while earning a 7-2 individual record. Kenny Phelps honored the Mustangs by winning the Southeastern District Tournament in the number four spot.

With four returning lettermen, Coach Black is looking forward to the upcoming season. The team will be losing one senior in the top six places and only two seniors from the whole team. Coach Black is hoping that experience and pride will send the Manor tennis team past the district championship to the regional and maybe the state championship next year.

In their opening match against the District Champs, Churchland High School, the Mustangs lost by a mere 9 strokes, 331-340. Manor went on to win its next four matches with its most impressive showing being against Cradock High School, 430-342. At this point in the season, the young Mustang golf team was 4-1 and tied for first in the Southeastern District. The team split its last four games, losing to Oscar Smith and Great Bridge High Schools and defeating Norcom and Wilson High Schools. With these two victories, the Mustangs finished with a 6-3 record.

In the Southeastern District play-offs at Sleepy-Hole Golf Course, the young Mustangs completed the course with a 341 team total, only 8 strokes behind Churchland High School, the District Champion. With this excellent showing of finishing second, the Mustangs, along with Churchland, represented the Southeastern District in the Eastern Regional Tournament. They came in ninth place in the tournament.

Coach Howard Beale believes that the team gained experience during the year and being so young, should have an excellent chance of winning the Southeastern District next year.

Girls' Basketball Team Attends O.D.U. Camp

The basketball season for the Manor High School girls' team began with several members of the team attending a basketball camp at Old Dominion University. The team also worked extremely hard during the season by running a mile each day and practicing on plays and defense for two hours a day.

The Mustangs began their season by defeating Eastern Academy 44-39. The leading scorer for the Mustangs was Vanessa Norris. The girls then split their next four games, being victors over Indian River and Oscar Smith High Schools. The team then experienced a slump in the season where it endured a five game losing streak. By receiving excellent leadership from co-captains Helen Samuel and Susie Sykes, the girls won their last two games most impressively.

Vanessa Norris was voted Most Valuable Player by the coaches and players. The team and coaches are looking forward to next season when the whole team will be returning.

Girls' Softball Team Experiences First Winning Season

The Manor High School girls' softball team began its preparation for the 1975 season in early March. The coaches worked the girls hard and long. The players were hoping for a lead in the Southeastern District title. The Mustangs opened their year against the 1974 returning champions, Western Branch High School Bruins. The game was close all the way with the Mustangs pulling it out in the last inning, 10-8. The team received outstanding play from co-captain Sandy Byrd and pitcher Millicent Barnes. The girls were on their way to their first winning season.

Then disaster struck as the Mustangs lost four out of their next five games, the only victory coming in the third game, 8-4 over Oscar Smith High School.

After their bright start, the coaches now had a pessimistic view of the outcome of the season. The players, on the other hand, were determined to finish with a winning record. Through this loyal determination, the Mustangs won their last three games, finishing with a 5-4 record.

The lady Mustangs had an overall record of five victories and one defeat. The highlight of the season was in the Southeastern District meet on May 3 where the entire team exhibited peak performances. Western Branch was declared district champion with a score of 115 points, and Manor finished second with 108 points. Our team captured six district championships by placing first in the following events: the high jump, 880 yard dash, 880 yard relay, the mile relay, 880 yard medley relay, and the 440 yard dash.

Based on outstanding performance and the individual making the greatest contribution towards the success of the team, Carmen Austin was voted the most valuable player. Avis Johnson, 1974's MVP, was the recipient of the coach's award in recognition of three years of outstanding participation on the team.

J.V. Cheerleaders Display Determination

"Mustangs are Dynamite" portrays the feelings of the J.V. cheerleaders for their team.

Working diligently during the summer with long, hard practices and money-making projects of bake sales and car washes were how the J.V. cheerleaders began their year. For the first time, the J.V.'s attended the NCA cheering camp held at O.D.U. This was excellent training for them since this was a first experience at cheering for many of them. At camp, they competed with other J.V. and varsity squads from all over the state. By the end of the week, they had won five ribbons of outstanding, excellent, and superior ratings.

Cheering at all junior varsity events, providing favors for J.V. athletes, selling programs during football season, and supporting the varsity cheerleaders were the responsibilities of the J.V. cheerleaders. Spirit, leadership, and determination were special qualities needed to be a cheerleader, and the J.V.'s definitely possessed these attributes.

J.V. cheerleaders are found filling jobs as bench warmers and spirit builders.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Spring tryouts determined that twelve ecstatic girls would plunge into their new roles as cheerleaders by practicing three nights a week during the summer. August 5-8 found them at cheering camp at Old Dominion University. School began with two practices a week and football season. Homecoming flowers were sold, and the "legs" contest was again held for the Manor Bowl. A surprise can of Raid and a gornet appeared at half time at the Manor Bowl. The cheerleaders modeled at Miller and Rhodes November 23. Attendance to the Virginia State Wrestling Tournament on February 21-23 wound up the year before spring tryouts began again.

1974 was a year of growing and learning for the Student Government Association. The S.G.A. sponsored a number of activities and tried to bring a closer understanding between the students and faculty.

Among the activities sponsored by the S.G.A. were Freshman Orientation, the Manor Homecoming Bowl, the Bowl Pep Rally, and Homecoming Dance. During Christmas, the S.G.A. sold Christmas seals for the Tidewater Lung Association and collected food baskets for needy families in the Portsmouth area. The S.G.A. also sponsored a city-wide workshop in March, and it held elections in May.

The S.G.A. formed three committees, the planning, student-teacher relation, and entertainment committee, to help create and promote more student participation.

Manor High School's Chapter of the National Honor Society encouraged, stimulated, and recognized excellence in Manor students. Membership was based on a combination of the characteristics of scholarship, service, character, and leadership shown by the students.

As part of its services to the school, the National Honor Society formed a free tutorial service that was used by many of the students. The Honor Society also sponsored a bake sale and candy sale to raise money for a scholarship that was given to a senior member and for the induction ceremonies held April 24 in the Little Theater. Parents were invited to see the thirty-seven new members inducted into the National Honor Society and to the reception held in the Humanities Faculty Office.

Broadcasting and Journalism Spread News

Project "Give a Dime" on May 6 was the most exciting event sponsored by the debate team. The schoolwide goal of a dime per person for the March of Dimes (total 2,000 dimes) was far surpassed. Joining with the debate team to make this an unforgettable affair were "Skip" Sams and "Peach" Carson of the Tidewater March of Dimes Foundation. Who can ever forget the WNHA radio station on the square broadcasting the news of the dime donations to all of Tidewater?

Another form of communication was offered by the school newspaper. It was produced by the journalism class and a few other interested outsiders. Many facets of newspaper production were covered, such as advertising, reporting, sales, editing, and circulation. Articles in the paper varied from light to extremely serious.

Students can be found 'giving their dime' on the square as station WNHA broadcasts Project "Give a Dime."

Besides having outstanding scholastic records, the members were also involved in extracurricular activities. All public, private, and parochial high schools in Tidewater participated in the program. A senior, Mary Fritts, was named from Manor to be on the Tidewater Scholastic Achievement Team.

After much preparation and hard work, four contestants entered the district and regional contests held at Homer Ferguson High School in Newport News. The club had a first place winner in the Boys' Poetry Contest. Dale Madison won the event with an original poem. The club also placed several contestants in the poetry contests at Manor Branch Library and had several winners.

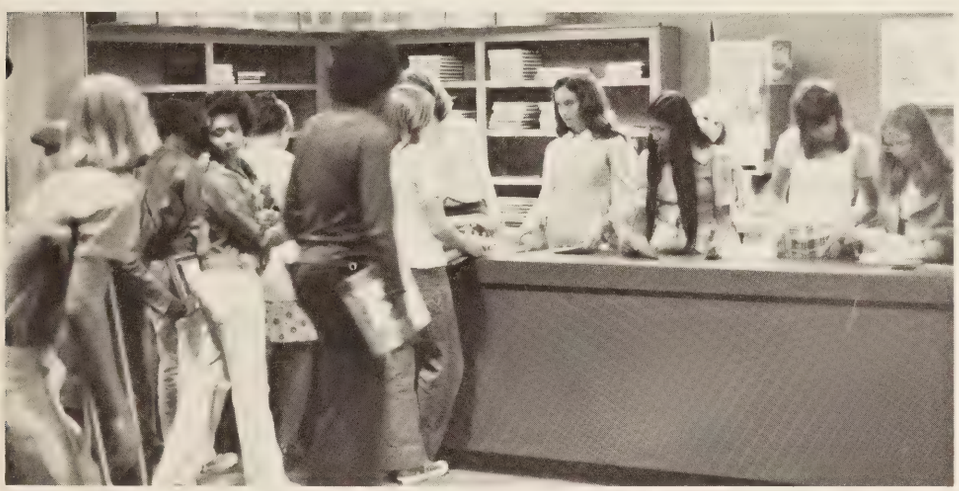
Produce '75 Mustang

Mark Beard, Roxanne Watson, Sherelle Cary, Curtis Wood, and Vickey Garner select candids for the senior section.

It all happened in room 205 during the last three mods of each day. Two hundred and fifty six pages were created to produce 'The 1975 Mustang.' Communication was open as ideas were exchanged, and the staff considered that one of its assets. Communication was considered so important that it was chosen by the staff as the theme for 'The 1975 Mustang.' Lines were continually open between the sponsors, the staff members, Mr. Gary Zwicker of Inter-Collegiate Press, and McIntosh Studios.

Each class was represented on the staff, which consisted mostly of experienced members. The freshman members were particularly more active on the staff than ever before which is good for future yearbooks which need experienced workers.

Another of the staff's assets were two experienced advisors, Mrs. Jane S. Epperson and Mr. Thomas French who were experts in their field. The fact that the staff felt able to voice its opinions freely to the sponsors proved to be a valuable asset to the group.



Students form lines to pick up their '74 Mustang.

Marching Mustangs Play to the Tune of

One hundred and fifty-three students led the "Marching Mustangs" to a successful year. The "Marching Mustangs" participated in the Neptune Festival where they received a third place, the Tidewater Festival of Bands in which they placed third, the Elizabeth City State University Homecoming Parade where they placed first, the Portsmouth Jaycee Christmas Parade where they received another first, and in the Parade of Champions in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The band won a bronze plaque for an "excellent" performance in the Philadelphia parade. No other band in first year competition in this event had ever achieved this honor.

A rating of superior was received by the Manor Concert Band for the third consecutive time in the District IV Band Festival. At the District IV Solo and Ensemble Festival, Manor received twenty-seven superiors, twenty-nine excellent, and thirteen good ratings. Fifty-eight band students were members of the District IV Regional and Workshop Band.

Try-outs for the year were based on marching ability and basic twirls. Mr. Emory Fears judged the girls as one of his last duties as band leader at Manor. For the first time, everyone helped make up the routines. Parts of old routines were combined to form new routines or the girls contributed original ideas for the routines. When the final act reached perfection, the majorettes joined the "Marching Mustangs" to produce splendid performances in the Neptune Festival, the Parade of Champions in Philadelphia, the Jaycee's Christmas Parade, and various other parades.

Four students of the Manor High School Chorus participated in All-State Chorus, held in Fairfax, Virginia. Sherelle Cary, Jill Davenport, Van Powers, and Sharon Williams were among the students chosen from various areas of Virginia to participate in the concert held on April 25, 1975.

The chorus participated in many other activities throughout the year. The Lancaster Sing-A-Long, Christmas Concert, and a trip to Williamsburg highlighted the first semester activities. Regional Chorus auditions and Regional Chorus Concert began the second semester activities. Because of the enormous talent held by the students in the chorus, a Musical Creations program and Mini-Musicals were presented. The Mini-Musicals were written and performed by the students. In March, the "Music in Our Schools Day" Assembly was held. A fantastic year of musical performances ended with the Spring Concert and a trip to Washington, D. C.

The string orchestra consisted of thirty-five dedicated musicians. They performed eighteen concerts for a variety of clubs, schools, and churches. They also went to the District Festival and received an excellent rating. To raise money, the group sold candy, had bake sales, and formed a parents' booster association. They worked hard to buy portable stands. The orchestra was incorporated into the National Association of Music Clubs. Besides performing, the group attended the Norfolk Symphony's concert with guest harpsichordist James Darling. They later attended a concert given by the Feldman String Quartet.

To keep children off the streets, FBLA held a successful Halloween Carnival in October. The Manor chapter was formally installed into the FBLA in November. In December, members sold candles for the March of Dimes and gave a food basket to a needy family. They competed in the district competitive events at Old Dominion University in March. Elvira Minzghor won second place in the accounting event. The bulletin board obtained a superior rating, and the exhibit was given an outstanding award. During the school year, the Industrial Cooperative Training Program enrolled 48 students who were given trade and occupational training on a cooperative basis between school and industry.

The students were placed as trainees in 28 separate business establishments throughout the city. These businesses provided employment and training opportunities in 10 different job areas.

All I.C.T. trainees were members of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. The primary objective of VICA is to serve all youths enrolled in trade and industrial programs.

The two most outstanding VICA club events of the year were participation in the Annual District Leadership Conference and the Annual State Leadership Conference. The District Conference was held in Nags Head, North Carolina. There, Manor VICA President, Marina Grubbs, was elected District One President.

At the state conference held in Richmond, over 1,000 contestants and delegates from across the state were in attendance. Beth Tate was successful in her bid for the office of State Secretary of VICA, and Michael Bennett was awarded second place in the state poster contest.

Manor's D.E.C.A. Chapter enjoyed an active and successful year. Activities were sponsored and produced throughout the year, all designed not only to entertain but also to educate.

During the first semester, the District Fall Rally was held at Indian River High School where an impressive program on the Virginia travel industry was presented. In December, the annual Christmas party was held, and then everyone left for the holidays looking forward to an even more successful second semester.

District D.E.C.A. contests were held in early February at Booker T. Washington High School. Manor was extremely successful at the contests by winning three first places, one second place, and three third places.

The State Leadership Conference was held at the Hotel Roanoke on March 13-15. Manor sent its three first place district winners as well as two voting delegates. Mrs. Diane Brown, chapter advisor, went along as a chaperone.

Fund raising projects were sponsored throughout the school year. Money from these projects went towards the Employer Appreciation Banquet and a field trip to Busch Gardens, both of which occurred in May.

Twenty students were inducted into the French Honor Society. The French Honor Society sponsored the French Club. The French Honor Society and French Club held joint meetings and participated in joint activities.

In November, they held a luncheon at La Crepe Restaurant enroute to visit the French consulate. The excitement of the Manor Bowl inspired the French Club to enter a float in the homecoming parade of floats.

During the Foreign Language Week, the clubs participated in various events and contests. The Foreign Language Week activities culminated in a trip to Washington D. C. to visit points of interest to French students.

On May 3, 1975, the French Honor Society and the French Club participated in the French Fair held annually at Chrysler Museum. Entries included the Delicatessen and Games of Chance. The French Honor Society and the French Club made two donations during the school year. They contributed fifteen dollars to the Joy Fund and twenty dollars to the March of Dimes.

Spanish Club Dines at El Tio Pepe

Manor's Spanish Club met twice a month during the year. Programs were given on special holidays on how these days were celebrated in the Spanish speaking countries. A Christmas fiesta was held with traditional foods and a pinãta. The Spanish Club took part in all the activities of Foreign Language Week. The members entered the bulletin board, project, and declamation contests and participated in the parade, assembly, and international buffet. They went with the Foreign Language department on a field trip to Washington, D.C. where they visited places of interest and dined at the Spanish restaurant El Tio Pepe.

Art Assembly Presents Awards to Talented Students

Members of the Art Club served refreshments to the art teachers of Portsmouth at their staff meeting at Manor in September. They helped with projects to decorate the school for various occasions. They served as guides at the Wing Night Festivities and held an Art Awards Assembly to honor talented art students.

During Career Week, they were privileged to have as a speaker, Mr. Fred Fisher, director of Portsmouth Museums. They went to the new Portsmouth Museum site and helped Mr. Fisher prepare the exhibit area for the City-Wide Secondary Art Exhibit.

As guests of Mrs. Staffon, they attended several art programs presented by the Portsmouth Chapter of the Virginia Museum.

In spite of all these activities, they had time for work meetings where each student worked with his favorite media. A sketch party was the last activity of the year.

The first Latin Club was organized under Mr. John Crute. The club's first outing was for supper at the Pizza Hut in mid-December.

Foreign Language Week was held in February. The Latin Club members won first and second prizes in the project contest and first and third prizes in the float competition. The club presented skits based on the Sominex and Burger King commercials at the Festival Night program.

The first annual Olympics was held at Manor on May 10. Area high schools competed in the different events. The Latin Club placed first in the tug-of-war, second in the frisbee throw and obstacle course, and third in the egg toss and relay race. The club's hard work was rewarded with an over-all fourth place in the Olympics.

Math-Science Club Sails Away with First Place

Money was an important issue in the Math-Science Club, and several sales solved the problem. The sale of doughnuts and candy gave a big boost to the treasury. Members sold pencils and paper before school hours in hopes of easing the pencil and paper shortage in classrooms. A cash award paid off for all of the hard work that went into the winning float in the Manor Bowl Parade of Floats. The proceeds of these events were used to take a field trip to Tangier Island and to have a picnic at Sandbridge.

In order to give girls an opportunity to participate in all sports related activities, a Sports Club was organized. The club had four main objectives: sports, physical fitness, school, and recreation. The club did not actually get started until the second semester but by the year's end, boasted a membership of 50 girls.

Some of its activities were a pajama party held at school, a trip to Ocean View, and a bike hike to Sleepy Hole Park. In order to raise money to buy jackets for each member, the club sponsored its annual sponge throw which had a dual purpose—to raise funds and to get revenge on the faculty.

The teachers seem to be enjoying the sponge throw in spite of the wetness of the situation.

Members seem to be taking it easy on the bleachers at the pajama party.

Dramatics Club Receives Excellent Rating at Regional

Raising money to join the National Thespian Society was the first priority of the Dramatics Club. Car washes, bake sales, and the spring production of "Ten Little Indians" by Agatha Christie were among the major fund raising activities. The National Thespian Society is an organization designed to honor students who do outstanding work in drama. Only those students who work a certain number of hours can be initiated into the society. Not only did the Dramatics Club try to raise money, but it also participated in the District and Regional One Act Play Festivals with the play "Live Spelled Backwards" by Jerome Lawrence. It won a superior rating at the District level and was awarded an excellent rating at Regional.

Students Serve As Various Aides

Student workers provided an essential service to the school. Aides in the main office duplicated and mimeographed forms, sorted and filed mail, ran errands, and assisted in writing early releases and late notices. They greeted the public by helping visitors and answering the telephones. Guidance office aides performed many services for the guidance counselors and the data processing-scheduling coordinator. As part of their daily routine, they greeted office visitors, answered telephones, ran errands, filed, and helped with essential scheduling paper work. Nurse's aides were assigned to the clinic during their free periods. They offered their assistance by recording names of students who come to the clinic, ran errands, recorded information on health cards, filed health cards, and performed other vital services. The volunteer work of students in the library saved the librarians a great deal of time by checking passes at the door, shelving books, and keeping the general area straight. The aid of cooperative students definitely made work go smoother in the various school facilities.

Office and Guidance Aides—Clockwise: Monica Waters, Ann Hahn, Linda Williamson, Nita Cotton, Karen Blevins, Tammy Monahan, Vernel Taylor, Mary Hahn, Daryl Clark, Elaine Watson, Vickie Neal.

Nurse's Aides—Clockwise: Ursula Webb, Shirley Stafford, Pam Mines, Michelle Doughtie, Beth Gardner, Jenny Wiggins, Sharon Stevens, Debbie Johnston, Surita Hurdle.

MUSTANGS

YES, WE LOVE THOSE MUSTANGS!

COMMUNICATION. Just h[illegible]t is it to you? Everyone strives for it—studen[illegible]dents, students with teachers and administrato[illegible]achers and administrators, students w[illegible]achers, and administrators with paren[illegible]

Countless times, Mustang [illegible]n to [illegible]Ledger-Star Confidential column in [illegible]esponse to the letters downing Manor. We to[illegible]our school and for what it stood. We tried to bri[illegible]t th[illegible]points of our student body and scho[illegible]at was COMMUNICATION. Remember calling the hospital after school to see how Chuck Jacobs was doing after his terrible football injury? You didn't get much information, but that was COMMUNICATION. Remember when a few [illegible] students paid a visit to the Presidents just before [illegible]ison football game? "MANOR MUSTANGS" was [illegible]y-painted around various places on the Presidents' [illegible]us. The students were punished for the deed, but [illegible]y knew we had been there! That was [illegible]MUNICATION!

[illegible]ch year as teachers and students become more [illegible]ustomed to the school and the system, [illegible]MMUNICATION becomes easier and more complete. [illegible]'s Mustang staff chose COMMUNICATION as the theme for the annual after much thought and consideration over what was distinctive about this year.

COMMUNICATION. Just how important is it to you?
